About

Nicole Jarecz is a fashion illustrator based in Detroit, MI. She graduated from the College for Creative Studies in Detroit, Michigan in 2010 with a BFA in Illustration. The real adventure began when she moved to Paris, France. She lived, worked and drank lots of French wine in Paris from 2010 to 2015. Much of her inspiration comes from living in Paris and from traveling throughout Europe.

Work

Nicole creates feminine pieces that are made with graphite, watercolor, ink, charcoal and colored pencil. It's all about a feeling and an attention to detail that makes her work different than other fashion illustrations. Nicole strives to find a balance between being playful and precise in her work by combining traditional and digital methods. Her work can be seen in publications, magazines and luxury brands all over the world as well as in private collections.

Nicole is now working in Detroit as a freelance illustrator. Her Instagram really took off in 2016 when she started incorporating live sketching events for major department stores and fashion events into her freelance routine. She noticed that her followers really respond to her gestural fashion sketches. She creates new content almost on a daily basis for her followers and has seen a steady increase in engaged followers because of that.
